4H-ers prepare for Fair

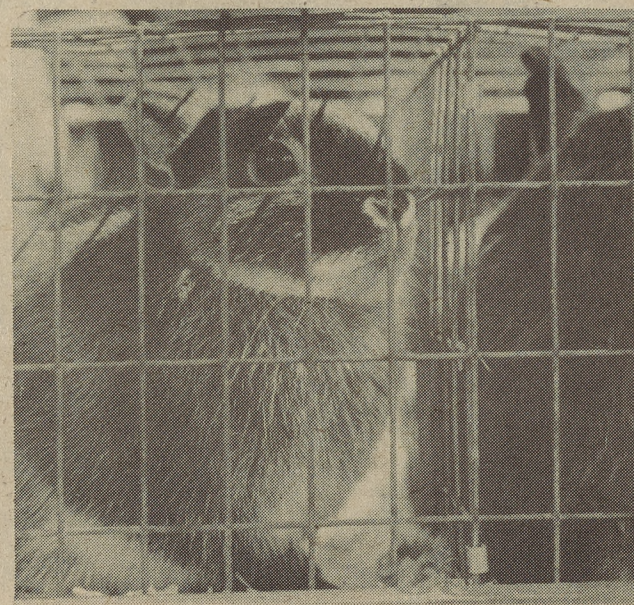

from our readers' point of view

Dear Editor:

The Cachagua Volunteer Fire Department wants to thank everybody who helped make our bake sale a huge success. Also to Mr. and Mrs. Bryon Hylton for the use of their store and facilities. Also to Mrs. Hoiberg for the beautiful cake she made and donated. This beautiful cake went to Robert Hylton who bought the winning ticket. Robert Hylton donated the cake to the Tularcitos Fire Department in appreciation of their efforts in helping the Cachagua Volunteer Fire Department on their own time.

Don't forget our Rummage Sale Aug. 21-22 from 9 to 7 p.m. Hot dogs will also be sold.

Military wants to fight squirrels with 1080

By A. COLTON

Phil Frank's irreverent, back-packing philosopher, Farley, has become one of our favorite comic strips, along with Doonesbury and Fred Basset.

When Farley turned up at Ft. Hunter Liggett the other day, to check into the great squirrel invasion, we snapped to attention — Hunter Liggett? Our own backyard?

It seemed a far-out spoof on the Army — the beribboned General ordering a gas attack, zapping the squirrels with 75 mm cannon, finally reaching for "the big one", nuclear bombs. "To save the fort we'll have to destroy it first", he tells Farley.

The Army does, indeed, have a lot of ground squirrels. And, they are planning to use "the big one", Compound 1080, on the furry invaders.

April 14 and 15 of this year a meeting to devise strategy against the ground squirrels was held at Ft. Hunter Liggett.

Present were 49 persons, representing the military, state and county departments of Agriculture, Fish & Game, Public Health, the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service of the Dept. of the Interior, the University of California at Davis, Rep. Burt Talcott, County Supervisor Dusan Petrovic, a number of ranchers, the State Farm Bureau, and a local newspaper. No "conservationists" were invited.

The council agreed that the ground squirrels pose an "emergency." At Camp Roberts they "have literally taken over the area"; "extensive damage (to) roads, banks, fields, dams, and even building structures"; "migrate to neighboring farms where crops and grounds are destroyed"; "drastic problem"; "emergency control methods... needed"; "we need new practices". It was decided that 1080 — sodium fluoroacetate — was the solution.

The request for permission to broadcast 1080 over 119,000 acres of Ft. Ord lands, accompanied by fifty-one pages of documentation went, on May 4, from Ft. Ord to Gen. Bernard Walters, commanding officer at Ft. McPherson, Georgia. From Gen. Walters it went to the Dept. of the Army, and is now on the desks at the Dept. of Defense.

The military has to get permission to use 1080 because of Executive Order 11870, signed by President Ford August, 1975. It bans the use on public lands of poisons which have secondary effects, repeating Executive Order 11643, signed by President Nixon in 1972.

The Executive Order states clearly that secondary type poisons may not be used on public lands unless "...an emergency exists that cannot be dealt with by (other) means... and that (the use of chemical toxicants) is essential to the protection of...human life, the preservation of wildlife threatened with extinction... or the preservation of... nationally significant resources."

The finding of an emergency, in these terms, must be concurred in by EPA, HEW, and the Departments of Agriculture and Interior.

The "Environmental Assessment" of the Ft. Ord squirrel situation, prepared by Ft. Ord agronomist Jack Massera, and approved by Facilities Engineering Director Col. Charles McNeill, states (Section B, paragraph b): "The Ft. Ord Complex cannot comply with the above provisions (the three listed emergencies)... "An emergency does exist... This emergency (economics) however is not covered in the Executive Order. "...an outbreak of contagious disease transmittable to man has not occurred, and thus a health emergency cannot be declared."

What, exactly, is this poison, sodium fluoroacetate, or Compound 1080, which the Military at Ft. Ord wants to use? Why the stringent ban against 1080? How does it work? Does it affect the environment?

The original ban against 1080 on public lands, signed by President Nixon in 1972, resulted from the report of the Advisory Committee on Predator Control, set up by the Council on Environmental Quality and the Dept. of the Interior. It is usually referred to as the "Cain Committee" for its chairman, Stanley A. Cain, head of the Institute for Environmental Quality at the University of Michigan.

The Cain Committee was a response to mounting public protest at the wholesale poisoning of wildlife on public lands in the western United States. Its report represents five months of continuous investigation by seven of the country's most prestigious wildlife biologists. The study covered federal, state, local, and private activities in animal control programs, their environmental impacts, and effects on the livestock industry, and alternatives to current practices.

The recommendations of the Cain Committee were forthright, and unequivocal: "...immediate Congressional action to remove all toxicants from registration used in predator and field rodent control whose action is characterized by the secondary poisoning of scavengers... that the Secretary of the Interior disallow use of the aforementioned chemicals in the Federal program of predator and rodent control, and that this ruling be made a standard in cooperative agreements with the states."

The Cain Committee report was published January, 1972. President Nixon's Executive Order banning secondary type poisons on public lands was signed the following month.

1080 is the trade name for sodium fluoroacetate, a colorless, odorless, almost tasteless powder, called by former EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus "one of the most toxic chemicals known to man."

It is closely related to a substance used by warring African tribes to poison their enemies wells. In fact, the Chemical Warfare Branch of the U.S. Army tested it extensively for this same purpose.

"The most infinitesimal amounts of 1080 are toxic," says Jack Olsen, in his exhaustive work, "Slaughter the Animals, Poison the Earth". "A single ounce could kill over 200 adult humans, or 20,000 coyotes or dogs, or 70,000 cats. It remains unchanged in the body of its victim, causing chain poisoning in animal and bird populations. There is no antidote. In the known human fatalities doctors have been reduced to... mounting a death watch."

Dr. Glen Crabtree, research biochemist with the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Laboratories in Denver, Colorado, tells of a child who died after sucking a dried paper cup used months before to hold 1080 solution.

A Merced City, CA, veterinarian, has on file a case of a dog licking a child's face after eating 1080 treated bait. The child went into convulsions, the dog died.

Also in Merced a veterinarian had 12 cases of dogs that had chewed on bits of dried skin of squirrels known to have been poisoned by 1080 two years before. All the dogs died.

A special horror in the 1080 picture is that any animal that ingests 1080 begins vomiting; each little pile of vomitus becomes a poison bait station. Colorado rancher Charles Orlosky followed a 1080-poisoned coyote and found that it vomited eight times before dying.

Does 1080 affect the environment? The Western Montana Scientists' Committee for Public Information, said: "Since 1080 remains stable and does not degrade easily, it is extremely hazardous to animals higher in the food chain. House cats, dogs, pigs, foxes, skunks, and coyotes have died after eating 1080-poisoned rodents. Rodent control programs in California reduced the coyote population by 30 per cent in treated areas. Carrion-feeding birds, such as ravens, eagles, magpies and jays who attack the viscera first, are exposed to maximum concentrations of 1080. It is possible that a coyote might die after eating poisoned rodents, and the eagles or magpies die from eating the coyote."

Ruckelshaus, then administrator of EPA, said, in his lengthy statement in The Federal Register, March 18, 1972: "The hazards from the pattern of use for these chemicals (1080, strychnine, sodium cyanide) is not remote or far off in the distant future. The prairies and ranges are populated by numerous animals, some of which are becoming rare. At jeopardy are potentially endangered species. Each death to that population is an irremediable loss and renders such species closer to extinction... The situation might well be different were the removal of these poisons from the market likely to affect human health or the supply of a staple food-stuff; or were there no apparent alternatives available the balance might be differently struck. This, however, is not true. I am hereby... suspending and cancelling these chemicals..."

As Dr. Crabtree has pointed out, we are not even beginning to learn the effects of 1080 on the water systems, the soil, the plants ingested by domestic livestock.

The present legal status of 1080 — sodium fluoroacetate — is that it is one of the chemical compounds listed by EPA as "candidates for rebuttable presumption". This phrase refers to chemicals suspected of causing cancer, or birth defects, or substantial destruction to non-target animals or endangered species of animals. If EPA decides, after intensive review, that a chemical is, indeed, guilty as suspected, the manufacturer is given the opportunity to rebut the charges.

If EPA decides the rebuttal is not adequate EPA will suspend the chemical, fail to re-register it, thus prohibiting its manufacture and use.

Why so many ground squirrels at Ft. Hunter Liggett, Camp Roberts, and Ft. Ord itself?

Can it be that these lands are suffering from a case of over-grazing intensified by 25 years of saturation with a secondary type poison?

Two-thirds of Hunter Liggett is leased out to cattle ranchers, as is much of Camp Roberts, and Ft. Ord.

There is substantial evidence that over-grazing actually encourages large rodent populations. "...in extended research on the Beechey ground squirrel in California, Linsdale (Univ. of California Press, '46) noted the close association of this rodent with disturbance conditions. Where the vegetation was allowed to recover completely from grazing or cultivation, ground squirrels disappeared, while continuing to thrive on heavily used areas." (Cain Committee Report)

When Ft. Ord, in 1974, requested "clarification and guidance" of the Dept. of the Army, as to what poisons could be used against the ground squirrels, the department's answer was plain:

"The southern area (of Hunter Liggett) appears overutilized... If overutilization continues, the entire southern area may become suitable squirrel habitat."

"The very dense areas of ground squirrels were found in the low cropped, fully utilized, cattle grazing areas."

"Control of ground squirrels on large grazing areas will require proper land management. Cattle grazing will have to be regulated to prevent deterioration of range land... Poorly managed range land has been proven to support larger populations of ground squirrels than well managed range land."

Dr. John Menke, professor of range management at the University of California at Berkeley, once said that he was startled, on his 1975 visit to Hunter Liggett, to find the lands there "the most over-grazed in California."

Eugene Gerdes, of the Monterey Division of the California Dept. of Fish & Game, has been concerned about over-grazing at Hunter Liggett for several years. Despite Fish & Game complaints, the over-grazing has continued, lessees are over their allotted numbers, and "certain bottom lands are used excessively", resulting in a decline of the deer population.

Such weeds as yellow star thistle and tarweed, which are quite entrenched at Hunter Liggett, are considered by the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service as a clear sign of over-grazing.

The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture, in a 1965 report, called over-grazing "the most widespread hazard to established pastures and ranges." It has turned millions of acres of western grasslands into deserts, has eroded the soil, and choked the rivers with silt, has extended the spread of so-called noxious weeds, and has encouraged the explosion of rodent populations.

The squirrel problem on Ft. Ord lands, apparently closely related to the grazing practices, has probably been intensified by the 25 years of 1080 poisoning, with the accompanying destruction of predators and raptors.

Ft. Ord's "Report on the Squirrel Problem in the Ft. Ord Complex", April, '76, states: "All three of the installations have had squirrel poisoning programs using Zinc Phosphide and/or Sodium Fluoroacetate since the end of World War II. In 1968 and 1969 Ft. Hunter Liggett was treated with 1080 covering roughly one half of the squirrel infested area each year." This distribution of 1080 continued, according to the "Report" until February, 1972, when President Nixon's Executive ban was issued.

There is no arguing with the fact that the bulk of the coyote's preferred food is rodents. It has been proven with the examination of the stomach contents of thousands of coyotes. Dr. H.T. Gier, embryologist with the Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station, at Manhattan, Kansas, found, in a 15 year study, that 88 per cent of the coyote's diet was rodents and carrion.

How many coyotes were "removed" from Hunter Liggett and Camp Roberts by the 1080 poison, the predator control activities of the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service and the Monterey County Dept. of Agriculture, from 1946 to 1971, cannot be estimated. Nor the number of hawks, eagles, owls, foxes, bobcats, and badgers.

But it must be suspected that their combined take, had they not been subjected to poisoning and trapping, may have contained the excessive rodent populations. Dr. F. Frank (Journal of Wildlife Management) demonstrated, in recent studies in Europe, that "in absence of control by predation, (rodent) population fluctuations are extreme."

Les Golden, long-time game warden with the Dept. of Fish & Game in the Monterey County areas, says: "Intensive squirrel poisoning campaigns carried on by County Agricultural Agencies at the request of farmers who suffer losses due to ground squirrel depredation, often result in complete extermination of coyotes in the affected area through secondary poisoning. Yet a healthy coyote population in the same area in the beginning would have done much to alleviate the problem of crop depredation by natural control of the offending animals."

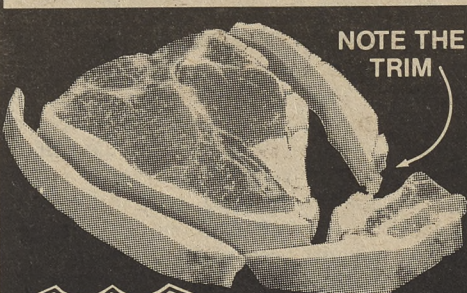

The military's "Environmental Assessment" states that predators play a major role in controlling rodent populations. On the other hand it admits that the squirrel-poisoning program will depress the predator and raptor populations, perhaps to the point where coyotes will start preying on sheep and cattle. But the "Environmental Assessment" also professes, frequently, with feeling, sympathy for the ranchers who have claimed stock losses to coyotes... and all this despite the claim that the reservations are positively inundated with the coyote's favorite food.

The several endangered species, the California Condor, the Kit Fox, the Southern Bald Eagle, the Peregrine Falcon, will be further endangered by the 1080 program, as the "En-

Green-Guild theme

Mary O'Neill's answers in the poem, "What Is Green"

"...Green is an olive
And a pickle.
The sound of green
is a water-trickle."

could have inspired the theme for the August benefit bridge and canasta party sponsored by the social club of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild.

GREEN vegetables grown in the garden of hostess Jean Stekly were used in the decor and awarded as table prizes and the bouquets of orange marigolds and multi-colored gladioli were in colorful contrast to the green cloths on the dessert tables.

Loaves of zucchini bread and apple pies were presented as first and second prizes for bridge to Dorothea Edwards and Bernice Leoni and to Vera Bautz and Mildred Blacow for canasta.

Table prizes were presented by a winner and cohostess, Nellie Mirani, to Connie Service, Polly Black, Dorothea Edwards, Ann Werdleman and Ada Bower who was the houseguest of Barbara Robbins.

Ann Werdleman and Nellie Mirani will cohost the next party, Sept. 15 and cordially invite you to phone your reservations to Nellie at 659-2454.

Valleyite promoted

Berwick Drive resident Charles Bourquin, has been named principal at King Junior High School in Seaside where he has served as assistant principal since 1972.

His promotion followed the appointment of Billy DeBerry as principal at Monterey High School.

The new principal, who resides at Mid-Valley with wife, Susan, and children, Will, Chris, and Jenny, taught English and served as an assistant principal in Wheatland before coming to the Monterey District four years ago. He obtained his master's degree in secondary education from Chico State University.

4H exhibit day

The 4-H Exhibit Day was held at George Lockwood's home. To start off the day was the rabbit judging contest: first, Pam Gayman; second, Winifred Reuter; third, Liz Weiss; fourth, Nancy Pryer; fifth, Gretchen Vanderveen; sixth, Susan Lockwood; seventh, Danny Weiss. Second was the lamb judging: Grand Champion was Hillary Yuma; Reserve Champion was Laura Sherman. The showmanship classes were held later in the day. In Novice Showmanship, Laura Sherman got first; Linda McKay got second; third was Theresa Padock; fourth was Will Farr. In Junior and Senior Showmanship, Ashley Swanson was first; second was Hillary Yuma; third went to Susan Lockwood; fourth was Kathy Collins; fifth, Tricia Collins; sixth was Nancy Pryer; seventh was Kent Swanson.

From the Woodworking project, a bench made by Susan Brandt was placed first; a knife rack also made by Susan Brandt was placed first; and a bench made by Greg Bennett was placed second. In the Horse Events, the places were, first, David Busick; second, Sarah Conklin; third, Hillary Yuma; fourth, Winifred Reuter; fifth, Marit Arana.

In equitation, Hillary Yuma and David Busick tied for first; second was Sarah Conklin; third was Marit Arana; fourth was Winifred Reuter. And in the egg race, first, Sarah Conklin; second, Pam Gayman. Some people from the Cooking project baked bread; Heidi Nichol's pumpkin bread placed first; Stefie Parham's White Bread placed second; Kim Parham's bread also placed second; and Susan Lockwood's White Bread placed first.

Bill Brandt displayed some homegrown vegetables, and Thor Rasmussen exhibited a coffee pot lamp and an extension cord, from the Electricity project.

"Exhibit Day," according to Susie Bennett, "is dress rehearsal for the soon to open Monterey County Fair."

CSH Junior Horsemastership

The California State Horsemastership Program is competition in each of the CSHA Regions, with the winners of those eliminations competing in the finals at the State Championship Horse Show. The winners of these finals are awarded scholarships to the college or university of their choice.

Region X participants in the program were: Coral Armstrong, Dina McDaniels, Ellen Deitsch, Susan Michelson, Robin Keinbaum, Kevin Hall, Bill Goodrick, Jennifer Ricketts, Jo-Ellen Atkins and Paige De Wey. Western judge was Richard Sereni from Los Altos and the English judge was Peter Primani from San Mateo.

Winners who will compete in Santa Rosa for Scholarships are: English Champion Girl, Jennifer Ricketts; English Champion Boy, Kevin Hall; Western Champion Girl, Jo-Ellen Atkins; Reserve Western Girl, Susan Michelson; Reserve English Girl, Paige De Wey; Reserve English Boy, Bill Goodrick.

The Region X horsemastership chairman was John Frank assisted by Sally Bennett. John says much of the credit is due to several people who so willingly gave of their time and knowledge.

The horsemastership program is open to any junior in California who has not reached his or her 18th birthday as of Jan. 1, of the current year, regardless of membership in any association. The contestant, however, just takes the preliminary examination in the region where he resides.

After competing in a very difficult written test covering parts of the horse, soundness, diseases and injuries, tack and equipment, breeds, markings, colors, conformation, feeding and care of the horse, trail riding, gymkhana and horsemastership rules, CSHA rules, some parts of the American Horse Show Rule Book, grooming and handling, a riding test follows.

Alpha Phi luncheon

The Alpha Phi-Monterey County Alumnae Chapter will hold its regular quarterly luncheon on Thursday, Aug. 19 at 12 noon at Del Mesa-Carmel in Carmel Valley. Mrs. J.L. (Helen) McCloud is president of the organization.

For reservations and further information regarding the club's coming event, a Nov. 13 luncheon, you are invited to call Mrs. Floyd (Belle) Radcliff MacFarlane, 375-5021.

Bridal shower

Mrs. James Brock assisted by daughters, Becky and Amy, were hostesses at their Via Paloma home for a prettily appointed bridal dessert shower honoring Miss Marsha Wilsey.

The mother-daughter affair (the daughters were between six and 20) was a kitchen shower with gifts selected to compliment the bride-to-be's orange and yellow color scheme.

Marsha, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Wilsey of Rancho Road will be married Sept. 4.

Angela Johnson retires

Angela Johnson who has served as executive director of the Monterey-San Benito Unit since 1962 is retiring Aug. 31 and will be honored with a reception on Aug. 23 from 3-5 p.m. at the Naval Postgraduate School — Officers Club, La Novia Room.

The many Valley residents who have worked over the years with Angela on Cancer Crusades are cordially invited to attend and may make their reservations by contacting Joy Crain 372-3598 or her co-chairman, Phyllis Chappell, 624-0538.

Chaco celebrates

Arriving from Pebble Beach where he had been guest of honor at a dinner party attended by fellow coaches and staff from the Community Center and High School Pools, Chaco Mohler found a large group of friends awaiting at the Hidden Hills home of Larry Challis for a surprise 21st birthday celebration. Chaco, who has been a part of the swim scene since tadpole days, competed for the Carmel Barracudas, played water polo and swam for the Carmel Padres, and swam for the University of California at Davis. This summer found him coaching for the Barracudas before leaving in September for England where he will enter the program of English literature at the University of Kent at Canterbury under the UC Education Abroad program.

Chaco who recently completed three years at UC Davis plans to "get back in the swim" in England.

School registration dates announced

Middle School Registration

Program cards, locker assignments and school maps, for students attending Carmel Middle School in the fall, will be available in the cafeteria from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. on Aug. 30 and 31. New students to the Carmel Unified School District in grades 6, 7 or 8 can call Carmel Middle School at 624-2785 for registration information and an appointment with a counselor.

Carmel High School Registration

Carmel High School will register students for fall classes on Aug. 30, 31 and Sept. 1. A schedule based on a system of rotation is listed below. This system applies to everyone with the exception of students who have not paid overdue fees, fines or returned books. These students must wait until 3:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 31 to register, unless they bring the materials or money to registration.

If a student cannot register at the assigned time, a friend or parent with the appropriate materials may register for the student at the assigned time. New students and students who have not received their registration material can pick up the required packets at the Carmel High front desk. New students to the area should also make an appointment with a counselor.

Enrollment drops Girls' budget increased

Enrollment in the Carmel Unified School District is predicted to drop 40 students for the 1976-77 year, but according to assistant superintendent Dr. Robert Whitehead, the number of students will stay about the same in the next few years with enrollment leveling off. Total enrollment is expected to be 3,109 students.

Elementary schools in the district will remain much the same, dropping a total of 10 students. The big change will be at the junior high and high school level.

Carmel High School is anticipated to increase enrollment by 58 students and Middle School will drop 92 students. The reason? According to Dr. Whitehead, CMS graduated the largest class in the history of the district last June. Three hundred and fourteen students comprised the eighth grade class of 1976. While the high school welcomes the largest class this fall, the Middle School will be accepting a rather small sixth grade class.

Carmel High has been overcrowded for the past five years and this additional freshmen group is the "last straw." To temporarily solve this problem the school district has ordered two relocatable classes that are near completion.

The classrooms, actually one building partitioned into two, will be placed behind the crafts shop. The portables are similar to those being used by the high school Continuation School and Regional Occupation Program. Wood paneled, fully carpeted, heated and air conditioned, the rooms will be the most modern on campus.

Enrollment at the high school is expected to be 1190 students for the upcoming year; Middle School, 715; River School, 396; Tularcitos, 377; Carmelo, 176; Woods, 150; Captain Cooper, 75; and Continuation School, 30.

The girls athletic department at Carmel High has received an additional $3,000 for the 1976-77 budget. The increase was made in compliance with Title IX of the Education Amendments which prohibits sexual discrimination in educational programs that receive federal funds.

This move was made in an attempt to bring the CHS girls program up to par with the boys sports. Says Carmel High athletic director Dick Lawitze, "Primarily in this situation Title IX is aimed at allowing girls to get equal representation with the boys sports."

Most of the $3,000 will be used to finance additional coaching positions.

CHS to offer 12 new courses

Carmel High School will be offering 12 new classes for the 1976-77 school year. Courses have been added to seven of the 14 academic departments at CHS. Two of the subjects, "People, Places and Things" and "Project: Community," are part of the new Interdisciplinary Program which handles courses that fulfill credit in more than one department.

"People, Places and Things" is intended to allow the student to gain a thorough knowledge of certain countries, cultures and peoples, with the combined effort of the English and social science departments. The course is taught two periods daily by Joe Feldeison and Frank Lynch.

Three teachers are involved with "Project: Community," a course that deals with various aspects of community life. Also offered in a two-period block, the course brings together the social science, English and productive arts departments.

The English department has three new additions for this fall. "Individualized English," "English Honors" and "English As A Second Language" will be added to the list of classes.

"Individualized English," taught by Frank Lynch, is designed to cover five areas at the students' pace: writing, reading, grammar, vocabulary and in-class games. The course will be on a contractual basis with the goals established by the students and parents.

"English Honors," a course for freshmen in the Mentally Gifted Minors program, will cover composition writing, literature, and vocabulary, with a strong emphasis on the mechanics of the English language. Buzz Rainer will instruct.

Limited to students who are learning to speak, read and write the English language, "English As A Second Language" is a one year or longer course, depending upon the individual student's needs. The course meets one semester of the high school English graduation requirements.

"AP United States History" is part of the new Advanced Placement courses at Carmel High. Courses in the AP program emphasize studies that will be helpful in obtaining advanced standings in college and preparing for the Scholastic Aptitude Test. Ray Stumbo will teach this class covering American history from the colonial period to the present.

A "C" grade in Trig-Analysis is the prerequisite for "Calculus" taught by John Durein, a newcomer to CHS. This class also prepares the students for the AP test in Calculus AB, which gives one semester of college credit.

Durein will also teach classes in "Math Survey" along with Mrs. Julie Gallagher. Percent, metric system, unit conversion, probability, statistics, graphs, and geometry will be studied among other topics.

4 teachers hired

When school starts, on Tuesday Sept. 7, students in the Carmel Unified School District will notice some new faces. This year the CUSD hired four teachers and one administrator to fill openings left by resigned or retired teachers and to fill new job positions. Another opening, that of business education teacher at Carmel High School, has still not been filled, but will be before school begins.

According to assistant superintendent of the school district, Dr. Robert Whitehead, this year's employment number is much lower than previous year's. "We are hiring fewer teachers now than we have in the past. Some years we would hire between 15 and 20 new teachers and administrators. But now that enrollment has leveled off and teachers are staying in one job longer there are not as many openings."

In her first year of teaching Margo McBane will begin her career as a social science teacher at Carmel High School. Ms. McBane received her bachelor of arts degree at the University of Santa Cruz and her master's at Stanford University. She has previously done work as a student teacher at both Palo Alto and Sunnyvale high schools. Margo will serve as a replacement teacher for Marcia Green, presently on leave of absence, instructing classes in Western Cultures and U.S. History.

Carmel High will also have a new mathematics teacher, John Durein. Durein, of Sunnyvale, taught for five years at Piedmont Hills High School in San Jose. There he taught classes in geometry, Buses will be available to bring students to Carmel High School for registration. On Aug. 30, 31 and Sept. 1 a bus will leave Tularcitos School at 8 a.m. and at 12:30 p.m. making all customary stops. The bus will return students, leaving CHS at noon and at 4 p.m. daily. On Monday, Aug. 30 a bus will leave from the south end of Big Sur at 11:45 a.m., making all usual stops, and will return at 4 p.m.

Carmel River School Registration

New students to the area who plan on attending Carmel River Elementary School in the fall should contact the school office before classes begin on Sept. 7. The office is open between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. and a verification of birth date should be brought.

Carmelo Registration

A packet of general information for all parents of Carmelo students will be delivered during the last week in August. The packet will contain all needed information on class assignments, rules of the school and arrival and dismissal times. The material will also be available at the school office, if needed.

New students to the area should register and receive their information packets at the office after Aug. 23. The office is open from 8:30 a.m.

Tularcitos Registration

New students wishing to register for the 1976-77 school year at Tularcitos Elementary School should contact the school office starting Aug. 16. The office will be open from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Parents of children already registered or those who attended Tularcitos last year will receive a "Parent's Packet" with all necessary information, delivered to their home, the last week in August.

Carmel Woods Registration

Proof of birthdate, inoculation records and previous school records should be brought to the school office at Carmel Woods Elementary as necessary information to register a new student. The office will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. after Monday, Aug. 23.

Carmel Adult School Registration

The Carmel Adult School will begin its program of day and evening classes on Monday, Sept. 13. The CAS will be offering over 70 classes in 13 different locations in the Carmel school district. Classes follow the district adopted school calendar and meet in two and three hour time blocks, once or twice a week.

A list of courses will be announced later in August and students may register at their first class meeting. Tuition fee is $5 per course per semester for high school graduates 21 and over. Current high school students and those over 62 will not be charged.

Last fall's schedule included courses in the fine arts, crafts, foreign languages, homemaking education, industrial arts, literature, music, social studies and various recreational activities. For more information contact the Carmel Adult School, 624-1714.

Kindergarten Screening Dates

A developmental screening will be conducted during the week of Aug. 23 through Aug. 27 for all children entering Kindergarten in the Carmel Unified School District. Dr. Richard Kawkins, director of pupil personal services and coordinator of the program has announced the following schedule for the screening:

Monday, Aug. 23, Woods School, 8:30 a.m. to noon, in the Library.

Tuesday, Aug. 24, Captain Cooper, 8:30 a.m. to noon, in the Kindergarten Room.

Wednesday, Aug. 25, River School, 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., in the Library.

Thursday, Aug. 26, Tularcitos, 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., in the Kindergarten-First Building.

Friday, Aug. 27, Carmelo, 8:30 a.m. to noon, in the Alpha Wing.

Those who have previously registered their children should have an appointment and will receive a reminder in the mail. Anyone planning to enroll a child in Kindergarten this fall, in any Carmel School, who has not yet registered their child or received a letter of appointment for the screening, is asked to contact school on Aug. 23 or call this week at 624-1546. If you cannot attend the screening on the day set for your school, your child may be screened at another school providing you have made an appointment. Since parents will be involved in the process, it is important that you bring your child and plan to stay for about one hour.

Dr. Hawkins said that the purpose of the screening is to observe the child's general development and construct an initial learning profile. This will be used by the Kindergarten teacher to plan an individualized program. During the screening, the child will be asked to do a number of game-like tasks while a trained observer notes levels of development. Areas covered by the screening include: large muscle coordination, eye-hand coordination, visual perception, visual memory, auditory perception, auditory memory, receiving language, expressing language and speech. The screening staff includes the Kindergarten teacher, the school principal, the district psychologist, speech therapist and learning assistance teachers.

While the child is involved, the parent will have an opportunity to talk with the school principal who will be present to provide information, and for discussion. Following the screening, the parent and teacher will review the profile and discuss the findings.

New programs set at Carmel High

For the 1976-77 academic year Carmel High School will initiate a program of higher level instruction for interested and qualified students. Honors and advanced placement courses will be offered, as well as the Mentally Gifted Minors program which is in its second year at CHS.

Six courses have been identified as "Honors" subjects: Honors English open to MGM students in grade nine; Modern Europe, grade 11, 12; Anatomy and Physiology, grade 11, 12; Five Cities, grade 11, 12; Leadership, limited to student body and class officers; and British Literature, grades 11, 12.

These classes offer a more in-depth study program than regular subjects and are designed to prepare the student for both the college entrance examinations and college level work. Completed honors courses are also taken into consideration by many of the colleges and universities when applying for admission.

Also available to Carmel High students will be four advanced placement classes: AP U.S. History, AP Calculus, AP French Literature and Language, and AP Spanish Literature.

These classes emphasize studies that prepare for the Advanced Placement Test. Passing of the APT gives college credit and advanced standing in a specific subject at all branches of the University of California and most other major colleges and universities.

AP subjects are open mainly to the eleventh and twelfth graders because of the stiff course prerequisites. Both AP French and Spanish Literature require three years of high school Foreign Language with a "B" average or two years with an "A" average. A minimum "C" grade in Trig-Analysis is mandatory for AP Calculus, and U.S. History is open only to juniors and seniors.

Students involved in the Mentally Gifted Minors are encouraged to register for an AP or honors course. The MGM program, headed by assistant principal Paul Scheckler, is open to students identified as a mentally gifted minor. The purpose of MGM is to provide a viable and challenging program for the gifted students.

Last year activities were arranged for noon time and after school. The schedule included attending the films, "Luther" and "The Three Sisters," lectures on astronomy, bridge and other subjects, and a trip to the planetarium at Golden Gate Park in San Francisco. Similar educational activities are being scheduled for this year along with the new higher level courses, to match the student's learning needs and interests.

The Mentally Gifted Minors program is partially funded by the State Department of Education. Students qualify for MGM by an examination given each year.

ECE comes to Tularcitos

By JULIE ZOELLIN

Tularcitos Elementary School will be initiating an Early Childhood Education (ECE) program this fall for students in Kindergarten through the third grade. The program is an expansion of the ECE at Carmel River School which went into effect two years ago.

"The main strength of this program is the involvement of the community and parents as well as the staff," commented Tularcitos Principal Phillip Smith. Smith, nine K-3 teachers and nine parents worked for two months in the spring of 1975 to establish a proposal that would improve the education of the youngsters.

The proposal involved eight instructional and supportive components. Reading, mathematics, language, multicultural education, staff development, parent education, parent participation and health and auxiliary service were categories worked on by the committee.

Chairperson for the ECE committee, and a parent of an elementary school student, is Mrs. Diane Garneau. Mrs. Garneau and the other members of the volunteer staff evaluated the present early education program at Tularcitos and set objectives for a stronger, more effective, system.

The ECE plan is state funded and each school district coordinates a master plan for the elementary level. The Carmel District Advisory Committee scheduled River School to first initiate the ECE. Carmelo and Woods School will also use the program later on.

The Tularcitos proposal was approved by the State Board of Education before the 1975-76 school year, but budget cuts in many districts cancelled the funds and the Tularcitos ECE was postponed.

Funds were allocated for the program last July and it will now go into effect for the 1976-77 year. Among other innovations, the money will be spent on better materials and record systems that can keep track of the individual student's progress throughout elementary school. These record systems will provide an effective method for the teachers to detect any deficiencies in the child's education. Teacher aides will also be hired through state funds.

"We want the best educational program possible for the children," Smith stated, "but with our past methods we weren't going to have it. Now with ECE funds we can maintain a one to ten ratio of children and teachers for reading, mathematics and language. There will be a noticeable difference."

Staff for the project will include an ECE coordinator, an ECE secretary and the nine teacher aides. Theresa Brodsley will be the new coordinator, assisting the teachers and synchronizing the written proposal with the classroom activities.

The Tularcitos ECE will be monitored and reviewed by the State Board of Education throughout the year. A rating will be given based on fiscal reports, records, instruction, meeting the set objectives and other items.

Many proposals from other districts were read by the committee to give them an idea of what other schools are doing with elementary education. Washington Elementary School, in Corral De Tierra, received an exceptionally high rating.

"The main purpose of the Early Childhood Education program is to build a system that will meet the individual children's needs on a one-to-one basis with the staff," Smith, overseer of the project, concluded, "and to involve the parents and the community in the education of the youngsters."

Pre-school programs shift Valley sites

There will be three new locations for the parent cooperative nurseries in the Carmel Unified School. The schools, Bay School, Valley and Mid-Valley, have all been relocated to conform with the state's earthquake safety code.

The Bay School will return this year to its original location on Highway 1 after a two-year stay at Carmel Woods Elementary School. The pre-schoolers, however, will greet an all new schoolhouse, just recently completed.

The Valley parent nursery is moving from the Community Chapel to vacant rooms at Tularcitos School and the Mid-Valley nursery will open this fall at Carmelo School, leaving behind St. Phillips Lutheran Church.

The nursery schools, headed by Wendy Banks (Bay School), Barbara Novelli (Mid-Valley) and Illia Thompson (Valley), are a cooperative program involving the parents and their children, ages three to five.

To enroll children in the school the parents must make a commitment to work one day a week with the children as well as attend a three-hour class in "Homemaking Education" at the Carmel Adult School once a week. Only one parent is required to participate, but both may share in the schedule.

Teachers hired...

Continued from page algebra, trigonometry, computer programming and consumer mathematics. Among his other courses in math survey and geometry at CHS, he will also teach calculus, offered for the first time at Carmel High. Durein received his B.S. from UC Berkeley and his master's at San Jose State.

The new business education teacher, yet to be hired, will be replacing Miss Wendy Stiles. The duties will include courses in typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, consumer education and office practice.

Also new to the staff at Carmel High, but not in the district, is Chad Lincoln who transferred from Carmel Middle School where he taught in the language arts department. At CHS he will be teaching English I and World Cultures as well as assisting Jack Ellena with the freshmen football squad.

Carmel River School will have two new employees, Ms. Mary Ann George and Ms. Marilyn Kodani. Ms. George, of Pacific Grove, received her degree from Northern Arizona University and has taught in elementary schools in Salinas, Pacific Grove and Oahu, Hawaii. She will be teaching first grade at River School.

Ms. Kodani will also be teaching the first grade at River School. She is originally from Carmel and attended both CHS and Monterey Peninsula College before leaving the area in 1968. She attended UC Irvine, UC Los Angeles and San Jose State College and taught for four years in the Pasadena Unified School District.

Two jobs have been assigned to the new administrator in the district, Charles L. Phillips. He is now coordinator of both the vocational education programs and the Regional Occupational Program in Carmel. Phillips attended Monterey Peninsula College, Cal State San Francisco and the University of Southern California where he obtained his master's degree. He also spent four years at UCLA studying in a doctoral program.

MPC program

Medical assisting changes

The medical assisting program at Monterey Peninsula College is undergoing changes starting this fall semester which will allow greater numbers of students to participate. The program also has a new instructor-coordinator.

For the last 12 years, completion of the medical assisting program took one year. Now the program has been expanded to a two year period and in addition to clinical procedures students will receive training in the area of front office procedures.

Heading up the expanded program is Ms. Ina Yenerich, who comes to MPC from William Rainey Harper College in Palatine, Ill., where she served as the instructor-coordinator of a medical assisting program. She is replacing Ms. Margaret Horsburgh who started the MPC program in 1964 and announced her retirement last year. Prior to her teaching at William Rainey Harper College, Ms. Yenerich worked for 17 years as a medical assistant and office manager in a hospital setting and in a private practice.

She said that MPC's new program format will give students a better background in front office procedure work which includes dealing with insurance papers, bookkeeping, appointment scheduling, etc. "All this is in addition to the medical assistant's other duties which are to assist the doctor with patient examinations and medical treatments," said Ms. Yenerich.

She explained that the program changes come as a result of recommendations from an outside consultant who worked with the college last year and from a community advisory committee made up of local physicians and medical assistants.

The two-year program has openings for 50 students this fall. Students must pass an English proficiency examination and be able to type at least 45 words per minute. Classes being offered this fall include medical ethics, law and professional relations, medical terminology and medical office clinical techniques.

Upon completion of the program, students will receive an Associate in Science degree and will also be eligible to take the certification examination.

ANITA SILVER is the new principal at Carmelo.

Carmelo has new principal

By JULIE ZOELLIN

"All of this is new. New people, new teachers, new parents and a new community. Every minute has been exciting," says Mrs. Anita Silver, the new principal of Carmelo Elementary School.

Anita, former teacher and vice-principal of Tularcitos Elementary, has taken over the responsibilities of Tom Williams who has returned to teaching at Carmel Middle School.

The mother of a three-month-old boy, Daniel Aaron, Anita will work as a half-time administrator, four hours a day, "I feel the teachers and the community will be getting more for the time available," she comments, "I'm very happy being a mother and having a job." Williams, the former principal, worked as a full-time teacher as well as the added administrative duties.

Mrs. Silver is originally from Toledo, Ohio where her family, "devote mid-westerners," still live. She attended both grammar school and high school in Ohio and graduated with a double major in Russian studies and sociology from the University of Michigan in 1963.

She also studied social psychology in the graduate program at UOM, but left for the west coast to work in television advertising before completing her studies. "It was either New York or San Francisco, and San Francisco is more my size," she said.

Working in various tutorial projects, Mrs. Silver has been involved with child development much of her life. She has taught elementary school in Soledad and San Bruno and has done substitute work. She received her master's degree in E.H., working with the educationally handicapped, at San Francisco State where she also earned her lifetime teaching credentials.

Mrs. Silver moved to Carmel in 1971 after she married Richard Silver of Carmel, a local attorney. They presently reside in the Highlands.

Principal Silver will be working on the Early Childhood Education program this year in addition to her other activities. The project, which hopefully will go into effect for the 1977-78 school year, will create a lot more community involvement according to Mrs. Silver.

Another change is the Mid-Valley Parent Cooperative Nursery now being housed at Carmelo. The pre-schoolers will have their own play area separate from the elementary facilities.

She enjoys music, traveling, macrame and needlepoint, but spends most of her time with the new baby, the Silver's first child. "Although during the school year I won't be with the baby all the time, I think it will make me a better mother and I'm sure it will work out. I'm really looking forward to this whole experience and the whole community and the new faculty."

CMS activities set

Carmel Middle School will be offering after-school and before-school activities for all interested students this year.

An early morning elective period will be available to students who wish to take an additional elective course, starting at 8 a.m. Two new classes have been added this year to the list of 20 electives; drafting and guitar. Teachers will also be on hand at 8 a.m. daily to help tutor students in every department.

Other morning co-curricular activities include the Stamp Club, Coin Club, Yearbook Committee, and quiet study periods.

From 3:30 to 4:45 p.m. boys and girls may participate in the CMS after-school sports program. Boys activities will include flag football, soccer, basketball, wrestling and track. Girls activities will include basketball, volleyball, gymnastics, softball and track. Tennis, golf and cross country are still tentative for both programs.

Middle School is a member of the Peninsula Junior High School Athletic League which involves interschool competition between seventh and eighth graders. Girls and boys on the sixth grade level participate in intramural sports.

Football to start

By ART BLACK, JR.

Football is in the wings in Carmel, and will come to center stage next Monday, Aug. 23, as the Carmel High Padres begin official pre-season practice.

Equipment issue will take place on Saturday, Aug. 21 for the varsity and junior varsity players. The varsity will receive equipment in the morning from 9 to noon, and the junior varsity players will draw their gear Saturday afternoon from 1 until 5 p.m.

According to Padre Head Coach Jason Harbert, no physical examinations will be offered this fall by the school district, since all athletes were to have pre-season physicals last June. Harbert stressed that if potential football players didn't have a school-offered physical last June, they must have a physical by their own doctor before beginning practice on Monday.

The season will kick off this year with the traditional Red-Gray Game, an intersquad scrimmage slated for Saturday, Sept. 11. Pre-league games scheduled for this year include Watsonville (there) on Friday, Sept. 17, Seaside (here) on Saturday, Sept. 25, and Live Oak in Morgan Hill on Friday, Oct. 1. The Mission Trails Athletic League opener is slated with Palma High School in Salinas on Friday night, Oct. 8, followed by King City (here) on Saturday, Oct. 16.

Coach Harbert has arranged a non-league contest with Camden High School from the San Jose area to be played on Carmel's Bardarson Field on Saturday, Oct. 23. MTAL play resumes against Robert Louis Stevenson School in Pebble Beach on Saturday, Oct. 30. Since RLS has no junior varsity team, the Padre JVs will trek to Hollister to pick up a non-league game on the 30th.

The Padres will take on Gonzales in Spartan Stadium in south county on Friday evening, Nov. 5, and will host Hollister High School the following Saturday, Nov. 13. The league finale will be against traditional arch-foe Pacific Grove Breakers on the home gridiron on Saturday, Nov. 20.

MPC sets workshops

Monterey Peninsula College Community Services will offer nine workshops and short courses during the fall semester starting in September.

They range from Monterey County archaeology to Cantonese cooking and run from four to nine weeks. All the workshops are self-supporting and registration fees are required.

The workshops and courses include:

Afro-Haitian dance, an eight-week course taught by Gaye Bennett, will be held Wednesdays from 8 to 9 p.m., starting Sept. 1. The registration fee is $10.

A course in woodfinishing will be given by Ruel Vincent on Tuesdays, starting Sept. 7 or Oct. 19 and running six weeks. Hours are 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The registration fee is $8.

The martial art of Aikido will be conducted for four weeks by Danielle Molles on Wednesdays from 7 to 8:30 p.m. beginning Sept. 8 and from 10:30 a.m. to noon starting Oct. 2. The registration fee is $10.

A five-week workshop on the antique clock will be presented by Harold Lawrence on Mondays from 7 to 9 p.m. beginning Sept. 13. The registration fee is $8.

Instruction in the art of baking bread will be given by Francis Kalnay on Mondays, starting Sept. 13, or Tuesdays, Sept. 14, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. The registration fee for the six-week course is $10.

Lise Winge will be the instructor in a workshop on Cantonese cooking which will be held Mondays, starting Sept. 20, or Tuesdays, starting Sept. 21, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. The five-week course has a registration fee of $15.

The archaeology of Monterey County will be conducted by Donald Howard on Thursdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. starting Sept. 23. Registration fee for the eight-week course is $10.

A nine-week course in silk screen will be presented by Barbara Williams on Saturdays, from 10 a.m. to noon, starting Sept. 25. The registration fee is $14.

A course in creative problem solving will be conducted by William Sigmund for six weeks on Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m. starting Sept. 30. The registration fee is $8.

Enrollment must be completed before the classes begin. Students are encouraged to register early as classes close quickly.

Registration may be made in person at the MPC Community Services Office on campus from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Phone inquiries may be made by calling the Community Services office at 373-5522.

Howard Sanborn will teach the one year Biology 2 honors course, "Anatomy and Physiology." Biology 1 is the prerequisite for this rigorous systems approach to anatomy and physiology. The course will prepare students for medical, paramedical, physical education and other fields in which the knowledge of embryology, the skeletal system and the respiratory functions among many, are a basic necessity.

The French division of the foreign languages department at Carmel High will be adding two advanced French classes this semester. "Advanced French Conversation" requires two years of high school French, a willingness to speak French at all times during the instruction and teacher approval. A one semester course, the class will cover the practical side of learning French and field trips will present the true-to-life situations that may arise when speaking a foreign language.

"AP French Literature and Language" is a one year course with three years of high school French mandatory. It is specifically designed to challenge advanced students in French, the linguistically gifted and Mentally Gifted Minors. The course will be built around the study of five novels and five plays.

The physical education department will also offer a new class, "Wilderness Exploration." Emphasis will be placed on wilderness enjoyment and survival. Hiking, climbing and camping techniques will be covered, as well as first aid and plant biology. One or more evening and weekend sessions will also be held by the instructor, Robert Brooks.

All courses, including the 12 new additions, are tentative offerings for the 1976-77 school year. Only those courses which gain sufficient enrollment during the late-August registration will actually be part of the school program.

Guests at CV Inn

Mr. and Mrs. John Emery of Santa Clara were guests at the Carmel Valley Inn during their stay on the Peninsula to attend the cocktail party at the La Playa Hotel and the dinner party at the Carmel home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Farr for Senator Alan Cranston who visited the area on behalf of Valleyite Leon Panetta, Democratic candidate for Congress.

A new adventure

"Retirement is not looking back, but opening new doors for a new adventure and a new beginning," is the beautiful philosophy of Vera Heckenlaible who with husband, Bertram L. Heckenlaible recently announced their retirement from the firm of Certified Public Accountants, "Heckenlaible, Ager, Paik and Jennings."

The couple was entertained at a steak barbecue at the Ward Jennings home in Tierra Grande where clever humorous gifts were presented in addition to — NOT the traditional watch — but a handsome antique regulator clock.

Heckenlaible shared his knowledge and talents in the field of accounting from 1937 to 1950 while instructing classes in Tacoma, Portland and Des Moines. He came to the Peninsula in 1954 and opened his own business which grew into the present firm with offices in the Village and at Carmel Rancho.

The exhausting schedule for their "leisure days" includes many hobbies such as civic groups, woodworking and gardening. An abundance of blossoms and fragrance in the gardens at their Flight Road home attests to the success of that particular avenue of adventure.

Much happiness to them both — "in their new beginning."

TRUST DEPT. MOVES

Wells Fargo Bank's Carmel trust department will move to a new quarters at 26607 Carmel Center Place across from the Bank's Carmel Valley office on Friday, Aug. 20. The announcement was made by William L. Timoney, assistant vice president and trust officer.

NEW HELICOPTER FOR FOREST

The U.S. Forest Service has put a night-flying, fire-fighting helicopter into operation on the Los Padres National Forest at the Rose Valley Helitack base 20 miles north of Ojai, CA. The helicopter will be used for night reconnaissance and dropping water and fire retardant chemicals on forest fires.

CV Racquet Club has new owners

Dennis Shepherd, former general manager of Rio del Oro Racquet Club in Sacramento, has purchased the Carmel Valley Racquet Club and the Carmel Valley Tennis Camp.

The tennis camp, which operates during the summer, has three sessions of three weeks each for children 8 to 17 years of age. Bill and Mimi Sours, who have sold the club and camp to Shepherd, will continue to operate the Junior Tennis Camp this summer.

Shepherd attended San Jose State College where he majored in business and industrial management. He was with Rio del Oro Racquet Club in Sacramento from 1971 to May of this year where his responsibilities included: membership sales during original charter membership period; personnel hiring, training and supervising; budgeting; maintenance; public relations and tournament direction.

His other activities include: membership in the Northern California Tennis Club Owners and Managers Association, an organization he founded in 1973 and served as president for two years; and the Northern California Tennis Association which he has served as a member of the board of directors since 1974 and as treasurer and member of the executive board since 1975.

In 1971, Shepherd was a general partner in S & H Recreation Developers, Lodi, where he helped develop Sun West Swim and Tennis Club, a seven-court facility.

Shepherd is married and he and his wife, Jan, have two daughters.

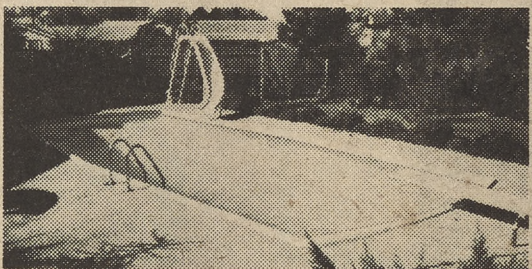

ARE CONCRETE SWIMMING POOLS OBSOLETE?

Judge for yourself!

This is a SAN JUAN, fiberglass, one piece swimming pool being lowered into the prepared ground! A beautiful, full-sized pool with a permanently smooth, non-abrasive finish that algae simply cannot invade! Only one of the reasons why up to 90% of old fashioned cement pools' maintenance effort and expense can be eliminated.

The SAN JUAN POOL comes in several sizes (shown here, 16 by 34 feet); equipped as you wish and priced demonstrably fairer than a plaster/concrete pool. It's longer lasting, too, because fiberglass, 12 times stronger than concrete, is forever. Colorful, it never needs painting! Moulded in the plant in one piece, in one incredible process, the SAN JUAN has a structural, yet flexible strength that has withstood four major earthquakes. Its smooth finish makes contact a pleasure, not a scratch. Much faster, easier to install... before investing in any pool get the complete story, including color photos of local installations. Get the concrete pool story, too... it only makes ours better!

Phase 1/2

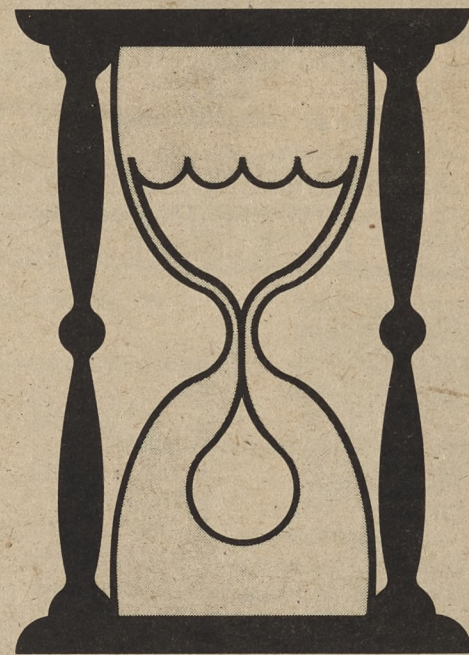

Because of the current drought, water supplies available to California-American Water Company are limited and can only be replenished when sufficient rainfalls arrive. To protect these remaining supplies, Phase One-Half water rationing for all customers served by California-American Water Company has been ordered by the California Public Utilities Commission. This rationing is effective immediately and will remain in force until further notice.

Under Phase One-Half, outside use of water is restricted again, but not as strictly as under Phase One. Restrictions on outside water use now in effect are:

- Watering and irrigation by hose or sprinkler systems is limited to 7 to 9 a.m. and 5 to 7 p.m. on alternating days. Consumers whose street address ends with an odd number may water only on odd-numbered days. Those whose street address ends with an even number may water only on even-numbered days. For example, a consumer at 414 Franklin may water only on August 6, 8, 10, 12, etc.
- In the incorporated area of Carmel where there are no street addresses, consumers north of Ocean Avenue may water only on odd-numbered days and those south of Ocean Avenue may water only on even-numbered days.
- No water from hydrants may be used for construction purposes.
- Hard-surfaced areas such as driveways and patios may not be washed by a hose or water directly from a tap.
- Cars and other vehicles as outlined in the original order may not be washed by a hose or water directly from a tap.
- Water in containers not to exceed three gallons capacity may be used for plant watering, car washing or the cleaning of hard-surfaced areas at any time.

Penalties remain unchanged: First violation results in written warning; subsequent violations will mean restriction of flow at the violator's meter to a minimum for health and safety.

This water rationing order applies to all California-American Water Company customers. No exemptions to the Order can be made by the local utility. If you have questions, call the company's water answer desk at 373-3051.

Fair prepares to open

The 1976 Monterey County Fair will open its six-day run on Aug. 31 with the traditional Early Bird Breakfast.

Col. John Hemphill is chairman of the event for the Monterey Kiwanis Club which is sponsoring the breakfast (this club sponsored the first Early Bird Breakfast), and Fort Ord field kitchens and cooks will make the outdoor meal.

Until Friday, Aug. 27, breakfast tickets ($2.50) will be available at Monterey Savings & Loan's downtown Monterey office, and at Marotta's Menswear, 409 Alvarado St., Monterey, and breakfasters can also get tickets at the Fairgrounds' Hunt Club Gate beginning at 7 a.m. on Aug. 31. The raising of the flag by the 7th Infantry Division color guard is set for 8:15 a.m. and will officially open the Fair.

The fairgrounds is beginning to hum with activity as department heads prepare for the exhibits of home canning, baking, dressmaking, floral arrangements, gardens, crafts, photography, art, etc. A brand-new building is being readied to house the home economics department, where Rose Atwood is chairman.

Entertainment lineup on the outdoor stage will include belly dancers, gymnasts, dancers, a review by the Community Theatre, judo and karate exhibitions, and at 6 p.m. daily, a featured band.

From noon until 12:45 p.m. children with pets will be admitted free at the Hunt Club gate on Wednesday, Sept. 1, and the pet parade contest is set for 1 p.m. that day. On Thursday, Sept. 2, the Kids' Day feature will be a talent show for young performers between 6 and 12 years old, auditions for which will be held at the Fairgrounds at 1 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 21. The following day, Friday, Sept. 3, senior citizens will be admitted to the fairgrounds for half price (75 cents) until 6 p.m.

In Pattee Arena, a series of concerts is planned — with Freddie Fender on Wednesday, Stars of Hee Haw (including Barbi Benton), Thursday; Bobby Vinton, Friday; and five stars of the Lawrence Welk Show on Sunday, Tuesday and Saturday performers will be announced.

Free bus service will again be offered from all parts of the Peninsula, with the fair underwriting the regular service from 10 a.m. during the six days of the fair.

Concours set Aug. 29

The 26th annual Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance will be held Sunday, Aug. 29 at Del Monte Lodge, and will benefit the Monterey Peninsula United Fund. Judging will start at 10:30 a.m.

Over 100 restored automobiles will be displayed on the lawn in class competition and for spectators to view.

Included will be Bill

Harrah's 1937 Bugatti Atalante Coupe, Brooks Stevens' 1938 Talbot Lago Figoni-Fallaschi LeMans Coupe, Tom Barrett's 1939 Delahaye Roadster, Otis Chandler's 1932 Rolls-Royce Sports Saloon Brewster Sedan, Milton Bacon's 1915 Mercer Raceabout, B.C. Wheeler's 1921 Stutz Bearcat Roadster and Briggs Cunningham's 1914 Rolls-Royce Colonial Kellner Touring.

Environmental Assessment" admits may happen. Condors are carrion eaters; raptors are known to have been killed by 1080 (EPA, Dept. of the Interior); foxes dig up ground squirrels.

The military assures us that special precautions will be taken to protect any rare and endangered species. The state regulation protecting the Kit Fox states that 1080 may not be placed within a mile of his den. According to local veterinarian Gerald Petkus, a fox can easily trot a mile in six minutes.

There are alternatives to the use of 1080 on the Ft. Ord Complex. Rod Holmgren, chairman of the Ventana Chapter of the Sierra Club, suggested, in a letter to Maj. Gen. M.G. Ross, Commanding General, Fort Ord, on Feb. 27, 1976, the following actions:

1. Remove all cattle from over-grazed areas, even if it means terminating leases.
2. Allow no further grazing until range has been restored, either naturally, or by seeding and fertilizing.

The use of diphacin, an anti-coagulant without secondary poisoning effects, in the areas of high human utilization — roads, dams, ammo bunkers, targets, and buildings, is also possible. The Monterey County Dept. of Agriculture uses diphacin as a substitute for 1080 for squirrel control.

Marching band to open festival

The Olympia Brass Band, marching jazz band from New Orleans, has been signed by the Monterey Jazz Festival and will appear on each of its five shows, scheduled for Sept. 17, 18, 19.

Jimmy Lyons, festival general manager, said that to open each show the 14-member old-time Dixieland band will march across the grassy, oak-studded festival grounds, through the audience in the 7000-seat outdoor arena and wind up on the stage at the Monterey County Fairgrounds.

The Olympia Brass Band, founded in 1960 by Harold DeJan, has played for festivals, Mardi Gras parades and traditional New Orleans Jazz funerals. It has toured in Europe and throughout the United States. The group of uniformed jazz players is led in its marching by a grand marshal in tuxedo carrying a flowered umbrella.

Members of the band are: Allan Jaffee, tuba; George Shier Colar, Edmund Foucher, Milton Batiste and Andrew Anderson, trumpets; Emanuel Paul and Harold DeJan, saxophones; Andred Jefferson, snare drums; Nowell Glass, bass drum; Paul Crawford and Gerald Joseph, trombones. DeJan is leader. Batiste is assistant leader. Grand marshalls are Mathew Houston, Henry Glass and Anderson Minor.

The Friday evening concert will feature a big band retrospective with the music of Fletcher Henderson, Jimmy Lunceford and the mid-forties BeBop Band of Dizzy Gillespie, all recreated by artists named above. Also featured on the Friday evening concert will be a tribute to the late Louis Armstrong.

The Monterey Jazz Festival will consist of five separately programmed concerts—Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings and Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Additional artists will be announced shortly.

Tickets are available at major box offices. For information write the Monterey Jazz Festival, P.O. Box JAZZ, Monterey, California 93940. Telephone (408) 373-3366.

Hu exhibit scheduled

The Zantman Art Galleries in Carmel will present a showing of the paintings of Hu Chi Chung, beginning Aug. 21 with an invitational cocktail party at which the artist will be present. He will also be in the gallery on Sunday, Aug. 22 from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Zantman's has offered an exhibit of Hu Chi Chung each year since the artist came to this country from Taiwan, about five years ago. Coming from the Chinese mainland to Taiwan, the young Hu studies the classic schools of art, and from there developed his individual style, which established him as one of Taiwans leading artists. His paintings have been included in many international exhibits.

California folk taking over the spotlight. Now if only the festival board could see clear to the jazz top-selling album charts and invite a few California folk like Herbie Hancock and Miroslav Vitous to the festivities. This year's selection of the Matrix band as a tip-of-the-hat to contemporary jazz is a major disappointment for the younger ticket holders who will be called upon more and more to buy those tickets in the future.

Regulars of the Cannery Row Dinner Theatre audience will be missing Alan Robb's presence at future productions. Alan, who has handled every phase of Row presentations from acting to directing, has left the company on an amiable basis and plans to stage a show in Mexico before returning to the Peninsula in late fall to help the new theatre on the Wharf get underway.

The best scene to dance on the Peninsula this week? It has to be the Boiler Room where the area's top rock group—California—will be performing Thursday, Friday and Saturday while Bare Hyde will sit in for the guys on Saturday eve while California takes care of a previous commitment.

California's music is definitely a notch or two above that of the average rock unit. Many of their members have been spotted playing at various jazz jams throughout the Peninsula. The group emphasizes their own music spiced with tasty horn stretches of the musical imagination and a consistent beat that shows the concept of "disco music" to be the pallid imitation of pure rock that it is.

Catch California at the Boiler Room this weekend—they're good!

The Studio Theatre's current production of "The Boyfriend" is the catalyst for the continuance of theatrical tradition within the Strauch family of Carmel.

Stacy Strauch is currently playing "Maisie" in the Studio adaptation. Sixteen years ago, her mother Jane played the French maid in a production of the musical and fifteen years ago sister Val was "Nancy" in a school performance. How's that for coincidence?

Like to know what the top rated radio stations are in town? So would the local radio management. Once again Hooper and ARB have come out with ratings that do not synch in any way. Let's face it. Those heavyweights in the ratings business back east have little time to waste on a small market like ours. Thus, the disparity in the figures.

The only reason the surveys are taken at all is to make it easy for the Madison Avenue crowd to buy time for national spots without ever leaving their air-conditioned offices. Three sheers for scientific methodology and look over those ratings with a fine tooth comb if you're a businessman approached by a radio ad rep. I'll try to translate the numbers to English by next week.

I trust that Carmel Mayor Gene Hammond will give as much effort to saving the Village Corner as he did to the Examiner reporters who converted his anti-tourists statements into a front page story last Sunday in the Ex-Chron.

I'm not terribly happy about the 12,500 cars that passed through an intersection of town in one day either but isn't it strange that His Honor failed to bring up the council's constant approval of new business buildings for the area? It seems logical that the more stores that are opened in Carmel, the more potential shoppers will come to town. Meanwhile, I'm happy to report that I'm still able to buy my clothing at available stores throughout the Peninsula and like many other Carmel residents do not need another cloth emporium to replace my morning breakfast spot.

Let's face it—losing the Village Corner would be a disgrace that should be retaliated with citizen ire at the next council election. We'll be watching your vote on this one, gentlemen.

Joe Regelski

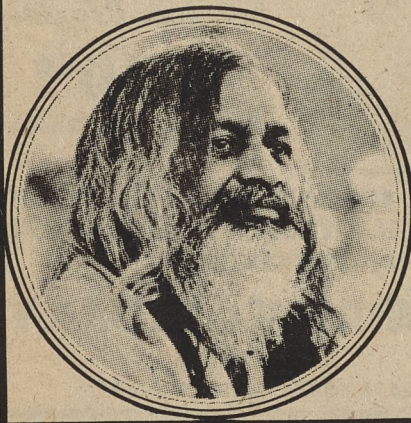

NEWS FLASH: LOOK FOR THE MONTEREY JAZZ FESTIVAL TO FORMALLY ANNOUNCE THE SIGNING OF A LOCAL JAZZ TRIO FOR ITS SUNDAY AFTERNOON LINEUP.

This is the shot in the arm that the local jazz scene has needed for quite a while. Although I won't mention names until the ink is dry on the contracts, suffice to say these Peninsula residents will stir a touch of pride in those of us planning to attend the festival next month.

That Sunday afternoon session will spotlight the All-California-High School Jazz Band. It's good to see more

MCDONALD

Coast Guard Seaman Apprentice Grant D. McDonald, 18, son of Robert E. McDonald III of Carmel Valley, has completed recruit training at the Coast Guard Training Center in Alameda.

During the nine-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training leading toward his qualification in one of the Coast Guard's 26 basic occupational fields. Among the subjects he studied were first aid, seamanship, Coast Guard history and regulations, close order drill and damage control.

A former student of Carmel High School, he joined the Coast Guard in April 1976.
